Bushy Hill offers unique summer day camps for children ages 4+. We believe that as people grow in their understanding of the natural world, they also grow in their understanding of others and, ultimately, of themselves. Located on 700 acres of mixed forested land, Bushy Hill features miles of maintained hiking trails, a private mile-long lake, an eclectic farm, a ropes course, tipis, wigwams and a brand new nature center.

Activities include exploring the natural surroundings, pond probe, hiking, team building, group games, swimming, tracking, safe fire making, plant/animal identification, boating, cooking over a campfire and more!

Camps run 8:30 a.m.-4:00 p.m. with bus transportation, before and after-care available upon request.

Bushy Hill Seedlings Camp: Introduce your 4-5 year-olds to the world of day camp in this new program. Campers spend the day exploring, creating, playing, making friends and learning how to interact with nature in a safe and respectful way. One-week sessions.

Bushy Hill Day Camp fosters a child's curiosity and love for nature in a responsible, caring, non-competitive manner. One- or two-week sessions; ages 5-12.

Bushy Mountain Teen Camp is for young adults that are ready to take on responsibility and use cooperation and communication with peers to complete team building activities and service-learning projects. One- or two-week sessions; ages 13+.

Scout Teen Camp is a wilderness survival skills and adventure camp that focuses on learning how to be comfortable in nature. One- or two-week sessions with some overnight camping trips; ages 13+.

Counselor in Training Program offers teens the unique opportunity to learn and develop skills as a leader, including conflict resolution and group management. One- or two-week sessions; ages 15+.
