American Wanderer is a one-of-a-kind summer camp for students, ages 11-17. This is a rare opportunity to explore the National Parks, right here in America — everyone needs to experience the great wonders of these parks. View the sun rise or set over the Grand Canyon, Mount Rushmore, Yellowstone Lake or the Canyons of Utah. Watch wild buffalo, pronghorn antelope, elk or bear in their natural habitat.

No where else in the world are the concentrations of natural wonders greater than in the routes that are planned for this summer. No two days at camp are the same, every day is a new adventure. Kids explore new places, learn new things, make new friends and have fun. What makes these camps so unique is that the cabins are on wheels!

There are two-week sessions for boys and girls from June 26-August 20. Choose from:

Anasazi Pass, June 26-July 9: Experience summer sledding down The Great Sand Dunes, explore Ghost Towns and trace the footsteps of the ancients who settled “the four corners” in Mesa Verde.

Ute Route, July 10-23: Conquer the North Rim of the Grand Canyon by hiking the North Kaibab Trail to Roaring Springs and back; explore the hoodoos of Bryce Canyon and the enormity of Canyonlands.

Shoshone Trail, July 24-August 6: Discover the thrill of Old Faithful blasting off at Yellowstone, floating in the Great Salt Lake or the hot spring fed Firehole River and hike to hidden lakes in the Tetons.

Lakota Path, August 7-20: Imagine being a Native American or cowboy at the edge of the Badlands or the foot of Devils Tower, and have a snowball fight in August in Rocky Mountain National Park.
