For young scientists and explorers, a birthday party at The Discovery Museum can't be beat!

"WonderScience" party themes cover a wide range of exciting topics and include take-home projects. Preschool parties last one-and-a-half hours long and engage the kids in subjects like stars, dinosaurs and magnets. Older kids work on activities such as Light Fantastic, Discovery CSI, Space Science and Kitchen Chemistry, to just name a few! Parties are two hours long and admission to the museum's exhibits and public planetarium shows are included in the fee.

Computer simulated Challenger Center space missions can be booked for guests ages 10 and up. One hour mini-missions are conducted for up to 10 guests and two hour full missions are available for up to 34 guests. You may reserve a private room to serve refreshments or to open gifts.

Most parties are held on the weekends, but arrangements can be made for a weekday afternoon or holiday. The museum provides the room, staff, materials and access to a refrigerator. Parents provide refreshments, paper goods and all required fees. Payment is required in full when booking the party.
